Cabinet-makers have not yet been able to dispose of any of their wares at Men-

Who will sit up with the congressional Democratic corpse after the fourth of next March?

Although Maine has a prohibition liquor law, there are 130 saloons in Portland, and drinking and crime are on the increase.

They can't help it. The Democrats had to back down once more before the fourth of March. Then they will perform a two-act play—backing down, and out.

There are several Democratic papers that now admit that as a party organization, the Democracy, as now represented in Congress, does not shine with any degree of brilliancy.

Another scheme for re-districting the State into congressional districts, will be found in our telegraphic columns. It will make seven Republican districts provided a majority in these districts vote the Republican ticket.

President Hayes, so a report from Washington says, has regularly drawn his salary in advance, which amounts to $4,166 a month. This is contrary to law, and the person who assumed to pay the money in advance, is liable to impeachment.

There is something withering in the sarcasm of Senator Conkling, when he wants to be sarcastic. In discussing the Morgan resolution in the Senate on Friday last, he had a little set-to with Senator Whyte, of Texas, when the New York Senator made the Senate fairly shake with laughter by referring to him in a political sense, as "the last rose of last summer."

There is a terrible state of affairs in Southern Minnesota on account of the snow storms and cold weather. In many places the snow is twenty feet deep, and railroads are blocked and general communication cut off between towns and cities. People are using barns, fences, deserted houses, and everything that will burn, for fuel. The railway officials fear that the farmers will be compelled to burn their trestle bridges before fuel can be got to them.

The great English historian and essayist, Thomas Carlyle, died in London on Saturday, as announced in the Gazette in its dispatches on that day. He was one of the ripest scholars and deepest thinkers of the time. During the forty years of married life, his home life was one of remarkable happiness. His wife died in 1865, while riding in her carriage, and the epitaph which Carlyle wrote for her tombstone, was, "suddenly snatched away from him, and the light of his life as if gone out."

The latest definition of a Republican who goes South to live, invest his money, and add to the material prosperity of the South, is given by Mr. Aiken, member of Congress from South Carolina. When discussing the re-apportionment bill in the House on Saturday, he said, "a Northern Republican is a political legalized burglar." It is evident that Mr. Aiken spoke his mind, and it is not unfair to presume that he uttered the sentiment of the Democratic leaders in the House.

There is considerable discussion in Washington over pension matters, and the opinions as to what the amount the arrears of pension law will cost the government are vastly different. Some put the annual cost at 40 millions. Commissioner Bentley places it at 60 millions. And others estimate it at 70 millions. Mr. Bentley thinks the arrearage act will have cost the country 500 millions of dollars; but there are some who estimate the cost at one billion, a little more than half of the bonded indebtedness of the United States.

The Morgan joint resolution in regard to counting the electoral vote, passed the House of Representatives after a short and good-natured debate. The resolution has no special significance, and from the first proposition made by the Democrats in relation to counting the electoral vote, is a generous surrender on their part. The first branch of the resolution was agreed to by the House without a division, and is this: "The two Houses of Congress shall assemble in the hall of the House of Representatives, Wednesday, the 9th of February, 1881, at 12 m., and the President of the Senate shall be the presiding officer; that one person be appointed teller on the part of the Senate and two on the part of the House, to make a list of the votes as they shall be delivered; that the result shall be delivered to the President of the Senate, who shall announce the state of the vote and the persons elected to the two Houses, assembled as aforesaid, which shall be deemed a declaration of the persons elected President and Vice-President of the United States, and, together with the list of votes, be entered on the journals of the two Houses."

The second branch of the resolution meets the Georgia case, and provides that if it shall appear that any votes of electors for President or Vice President of the United States have been given on a day other than that fixed for the casting of such votes by act of Congress, in pursuance of the Constitution of the United States, if the counting or omitting of the counting of such votes shall not essentially change the result, they shall be reported by the President of the Senate in the following manner: "Were the votes of the electors cast on the day of 1880, to be counted, the result would be for A B for President of the United States — votes, and C D for President of the United States — votes. If not counted, the result would be for A B for President of the United States — votes, and for C D for President of the United States — votes; but, in either event, — is elected President of the United States," and in the same manner for Vice President.

As a rule, the Republicans voted against the resolution and the Democrats for it, but twenty-one Republicans voted in the affirmative with the Democrats. The matter is now settled, and on Wednesday General Garfield and General Arthur will be declared President and Vice President of the United States.

FROM MADISON.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
MADISON, February 7.—A sudden change in the temperature took place at about midnight, at which time a light rain commenced falling, and early this morning was followed by quite a heavy snow storm, which continued until about nine o'clock, when it commenced raining again, and at this hour—twelve o'clock—is still raining. A general break up is probable.

Governor Washburn, who was prostrated with a severe attack of vertigo, at La Crosse, a few days since, is reported this morning to be much better.

APPORTIONMENT.

The Republican Sentiment Relating to an Increase in the Number of Congressmen.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 6.—A strong feeling is being developed among Republicans to have the apportionment bill, when passed, provide for 319 members, in view of the difficulty that this will lead to. Even if they did not insist upon the investigation of Southern frauds, the work of re-apportionment will necessarily be delayed. The reason that this number is desired is that under it the North loses no members compared with those returned for the South. Some Republicans think it would be the height of folly to make an apportionment now that would give the Democrats an advantage of four to six new members, when, by the most strenuous efforts, they succeeded in capturing the next Congress by only two majority.

WISCONSIN.
Puleifer's Plan for Re-Arranging the State into Congressional Districts.
MADISON, Feb. 5.—Many members of the Legislature and State officers are busily engaged in making figures on Congressional districts. One of the schemes for re-districting the State was put forth to-day by the Hon. D. H. Puleifer, and is heartily endorsed by leading Republicans. His plan embraces seven strong Republican districts and one intensely Democratic district, and is as follows:

1. Milwaukee and Waukesha counties, with a Republican majority in 1879 of 2,378.
2. Racine, Kenosha, Rock, Walworth, and Dane, Republican majority, 6,303.
3. Green, Iowa, Lafayette, Grant, Crawford, Richland, and Vernon, Republican majority, 5,717.
4. Jefferson, Dodge, Washington, Ozaukee, Sheboygan, and Manitowish, Democratic majority, 4,654.
5. Fond du Lac, Columbia, Sauk, Green Lake, Marquette, Washington, Adams and Juneau, Republican majority, 4,727.
6. Winnebago, Calumet, Brown, Kewaunee, Door, Waupesa, Portage, and Wood, Republican majority in 1879, 693, and in 1880 1,535, making it a safe Republican district in any contingency.
7. La Crosse, Monroe, Jackson, Clark, Trempealeau, Eau Claire, Buffalo, Pepin,

Dane, and Pierce, Republican majority 9,029.
8. The northern and rapidly-growing portion of the State, as follows: St. Croix, Polk, Barron, Burnett, Douglas, Chippewa, Bayfield, Ashland, Taylor, Price, Marathon, Lincoln, Outagamie, Shawano, Oconto, Marinette and Langlade, Republican majority in 1879, 12,200.
The Republican majorities in all these districts were much larger in 1880.

HAYES' SALARY.

Drawing in Advance and Saving Interest on $4,166 Each Month.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—As the administration of President Hayes draws to a close a good many curious things are brought to light. It has been rumored for four years that the President, contrary to the law which prescribes that no advance of public money shall be made in any case whatever, has insisted on receiving his salary in advance, and that his requests have at different times been the subject of grave consideration at the treasury department for the reason that the officer who has made advances, no matter if the request came from the President of the United States, has violated the law, and is liable to impeachment. A prominent Republican member of the judiciary committee of the Senate, the other day, who had his attention called to this story, is reported to have said that it was a very grave affair, at least for the person who made the payment. A gentleman who claims to know all about this story says that the President has regularly drawn his salary in advance through the administration. This is a matter of saving of interest on $4,166 each month for four years.

GOVERNOR WASHBURN ILL.

Ex-Governor Washburn Ill at His Hotel in La Crosse.
LA CROSSE, Feb. 6.—Ex-Governor Washburn C. Washburn, arrived at La Crosse Saturday morning from the East, after a fortnight's absence, during which he has not been in his usual vigorous health. He ought not to have taken that long and hurried journey in such cold weather. Saturday noon, while in the office of Mr. Hixon, adjoining his own office, the Governor had an attack of vertigo. He was conveyed to his room at the Cameron House, where he received all needed attention, and his illness seems to yield to medical treatment. There is every possibility of his rapid recovery. He has rested well, and to-day received several visitors, with whom he conversed freely and cheerfully.

SHOT HIS WIFE.

She Never did Wrong Except with Curley.
ST. PAUL, Feb. 6.—About 5 o'clock this evening Charles Grear shot his wife, known in theatrical circles as Nelly Waters, in a Minneapolis boarding house. The couple, who are actors, had been quarreling, he charging her with adultery and threats passed between them. About 5 o'clock Mrs. Grear left the sitting-room and went to her room. He started to follow, but met her in the hall returning. He drew a revolver and threatened to shoot her. She replied, "You are not shot," when he fired two shots, one taking effect in her breast. She fell to the floor, and he made good his escape. A physician was called, and while examining the wounds of the injured woman, the shooter returned, and was arrested. He was excited by liquor, and said he was sorry for the shooting. Grear was formerly with John Robinson's circus, and claims that he recently left his wife in Chicago, where she was too accommodating to Thomas Curley. Mrs. Grear, in her excitement under the influence of anesthetics, says she never did wrong except with Curley, and wanted to see him. It is likely she will recover.

A RESIDENT OF JANESVILLE

Visited a clothing store the other day to purchase an Overcoat. He saw one at $15.00 that suited him pretty well, but that was more than he wanted to pay. Seeing it was a little late in the season the proprietor would sell it to him for $15.00. A chaise to the door brought the price down to $12.00, and a shy to the sidewalk got the Overcoat at an offer of $10.00. A drop of nearly 50 per cent from price asked, which is a fair sample of closing out at cost sales. Our goods are marked in plain figures to-day at the same prices we have asked since September, and we

SUSPENDED TRAVEL.

The Snow Blockade on the Minnesota Railways.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 6.—The river division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul is still the only railroad in operation in Minnesota. No snow fell to-day in this locality, and the mild temperature has given to the snow a dampness which prevents its blowing, but it has become packed so solid and is so heavy that it will not be at all strange, even should there be no further storm, if travel of some of the lines is not resumed for a week. Business has been practically suspended on all the lines.

A YOUTHFUL SUICIDE.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 6.—August Schultz, 15 years of age, committed suicide this afternoon by hanging himself with a cord to a stair banister at his home, No. 615 Lloyd street. His parents and an elder brother went visiting, leaving him in charge of the house, and when they returned at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, they found the boy hanging and quite dead. No cause can be assigned to the act other than that he had stolen $5 from his parents a few days ago and dreaded chastisement. He was employed in a basket factory and was considered a rather wild boy.

DITCHED OPERA COMPANY.

GALVESTON, Feb. 6.—A train on the Houston and Texas Central jumped an embankment at Cedar creek, near Hempstead, last night, injuring twenty or twenty-five persons, among them several members of the Strakosch & Hess opera troupe. The accident occurred by the falling through of a bridge, caused by heavy rain. A full list of the names of the injured is not at hand, but those severely hurt are:

Conductor Littig, cut on the side and hip.

Rose Marion, chorus singer, badly cut with glass in the side.

A cornet player, broken arm.

A man named Levi, from New York, nose broken and other injuries.

Several others more or less bruised,

The entire party was taken back to Houston, where their injuries were attended to. The engine, two baggage cars, one express car, and two passenger coaches were wrecked. Marie Roze was not on board, having left for Kansas City the day before.

Southern as a Joker.

(From the New York Sun.)
Ned Southern, as his friends call him, was an indefatigable practical joker, and the anecdotes told of him in this capacity are unnumbered. Some of his jokes on the public may be remembered—how he advertised extensively that on the 1st of April a man would test a flying machine from the top of Trinity's steeple; how on another occasion he invited all New York to an elegant ball in the Academy of music. All New York turned out in its best clothes and found a dark, dismal and unopened building to receive them. One of his best jokes was on his fellow-countryman, Philip Lee, the husband of Adelaide Nelson, the actress and decidedly cockneyish. He wanted to see some good New York society. Southern promised to introduce him to representatives at breakfast in the Westminster hotel. Lee went and there met such knickerbockers as Billy Florence, Charles Backus, Billy Birch, Nelse Seymour and Dan Bryant. They were all very polite and very aristocratic, and the breakfast progressed with elegant until Seymour made a remark at which Backus took exception. Instantly Backus pulled a big bowie-knife and lunged at Seymour. The latter grabbed the small Englishman and held up as a shield between him and the irate Backus. There was a scene of terrific confusion, each knickerbocker drawing a revolver or a knife. Lee wriggled away from Seymour and fled for life. He never heard the last of how Southern introduced him to New York's best society.

Whenever Florence and Southern were together a practical joke of magnitude was planned. One of the last was in San Francisco. Southern was playing Dundreary at Baldwin's theater, and Florence, Bardwell Slote at the California theater. In the 3d act of "Our American Cousin," Bardwell Slote talked upon the stage looking for Dundreary in the 3d act of the "Mighty Dollar." Dundreary walked upon the stage looking for Slote. It was very funny after the audience saw the point. The actors had taken cabs and rushed from one theater to the other. No one but Southern and Florence would have thought of such a thing.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

The following statement of William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of 1876, I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when, to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

"I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I have taken two bottles, and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared, and I shall soon be able to go to work." Sold by druggists.

—Burr Robbins to-day started Eastward, and will visit Pittsburg, Philadelphia and New York, before his return.

—Alex. Richardson has returned from Whitewater. He reports the trade at the branch store there as booming, and that Croighton Bros. are also doing a good business.

—The Janesville accommodation was delayed nearly three hours Saturday night just below Harvard, where an engine and several freight cars run off a switch. No serious damage.

—Situations were secured for six of Sheriff Skavien's boarders to-day. They were situated on the bridge and given employment in cleaning the snow off the walks. Good enough.

—Parties who intend visiting Washington to attend the inauguration of President-elect General Garfield, will find it to their advantage by calling at the Gazette office before the 15th inst.

—The Police Court this morning was dampened by a leak in the roof, and a punning tramp as he received a ten days' sentence, pronounced the place "a damp pen." Puns are so punny.

—Beloit reports the death of another of Rock county's oldest settlers, Harrison Northrop, who died at his home in that city, after an illness of about two years, and having reached the age of 80 years.

—Snow in the cut on the Northwestern road last night drifted so badly as to stop Conductor Stuckey's train, so that it had to back up to the yard again. The snow has now been shovelled out and trains are running all right.

—Mr. Walls' new device for setting axes is going to be pushed into the market at once. T. T. Croft went to Chicago to-day to get cents made showing its workings, and to arrange other preliminaries for getting it before the people.

—Three vagrants were housed in jail yesterday, and to-day on pleading guilty were sentenced, one, John Rogers, to seven days, and the other two, John Baner and George Johnson to three days each; Rogers had been there before.

—St. Mary's church choir are to give a concert in Lappin's hall one week from to-morrow night, to be followed by a dance in Apollo hall. The tickets for the entertainment are placed at fifteen cents, and for the dance including supper, one dollar.

—Will Hyzer, the former clerk in the express office here, and who has now been away for a year, returned Saturday for a few days' visit to his folk. He is now running on the road from Milwaukee to Wausan, and looks as though life on the rail agreed with him.

—To-night Rev. Mr. Berger, of Fort Atkinson, will preach in German at the First Methodist church. It is desired to organize a German church here provided there are enough interested to make the plan advisable. The Germans particularly are invited to be present this evening.

—The Guards have made arrangements with Dupre, the well known Milwaukee costumer, to bring a full line of costumes here for the grand masquerade on the 25th, and the committee guarantee to those who desire costumes an opportunity to select from the finest assortment ever brought to this city. The costumes are new and perfectly clean, and the prices are very reasonable.

—The following words from a private letter written by Mrs. E. B. Richards, to her friends here, and dated Lenore, Cal., January 30, are so refreshing, considering the weather here, that we cannot but give them: "Alfalfa hay is sufficiently high for stock to graze, and wheat is looking green and thrifty. A few weeks from now the plains will be covered with beautiful flowers, and the air redolent with perfume."

—The temperance paper, called the Home Guard, declares that "no saloon licenses are granted in Rock county, outside of Janesville and Beloit, and yet at least twenty men outside of those cities are trying to sell liquor in known violation of the law." If the Home Guard don't know this to be so, then the assertion is only a guess. If it does know it to be true then the Home Guard is very derelict in its duty. It should complain of them at once, get warrants out, and put them in the Guard House.

—The east approach to Court street bridge is a rather dangerous spot for the little folk. The railing consists only of one top board, so that there is nothing to prevent a child from slipping off and falling far enough to cause serious injuries. Last evening a gentleman and his wife were coming along there drawing their little child on a hand sled, and at that spot the sled ghidled around, and fell over the edge, but the child held on and was drawn onto a safe foundation by the frightened parents. A few boards would prevent any such mishap, which at this season of slippery roads is very liable to occur. Look out for the little folk.

—Yesterday morning Miss Emma Haire, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Haire, died at her home in this city, the cause being diptheria, and in a very aggravated form. The blow is a comparatively sudden one, as she had been sick only a week. One week ago yesterday she attended church as usual, but complained of a very sore throat, and from that time grew gradually worse, and for the two days previous to her death, it seemed that she was fated. She passed her fourteenth birthday on the 2d of last month, and was a girl of much promise, and greatly beloved for her many goodly qualities, and her death not only casts a heavy gloom over the sorrowing circle thus broken, but shadows also a large circle of young friends, and calls forth the earnest sympathy of many other family circles. The funeral services were held this afternoon at the house.

BADLY BITTEN. Peter Kieffer, corner Clinton and Bennett streets, Buffalo, says: I was badly bitten by a horse a few days ago and was induced by a friend who witnessed the occurrence to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It relieved the pain almost immediately, and in four days the wound was completely healed. Nothing can be better for fresh wounds.

MR. VANKIRK'S CONDITION.

Dr. Palmer returned this afternoon from New York, where he was called by the illness of W. T. Vankirk. He reports that he found Mr. Vankirk suffering from erysipelas, which has effected his whole head, and rendered him delirious for several days, but he was better on Saturday, and a dispatch received from there this morning says he is considerably better to-day, and Dr. Palmer thinks that the chances for recovery are excellent, although nothing is very certain with so treacherous a disease. It seems that a swelling and inflammation in the back of the neck began a week ago last Wednesday, and there was the appearance as though an abscess or carbuncle was forming, which the physicians tried to disperse, but the inflammation changed to an erysipelatous character, and since then the erysipelas has extended all over the head. Before Dr. Palmer left Mr. Vankirk was able to recognize him at times, and the later advices indicate that he is still improving rapidly. C. N. Vankirk will remain there to help watch with and care for him.

The trip to New York and return was a quick one. Dr. Palmer left here Thursday afternoon and arrived in New York Saturday noon, and remained until yesterday morning when he started on a return trip, in which excellent time was made. He left Jersey City at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning on a special train to Philadelphia, arrived there at 8:50, in time to catch the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne fast train for Chicago, arriving in the latter city at 9:50 this morning, which gave him ten minutes to catch the train on the Madison division of the Northwestern road, caught the train at Harvard, and reached here at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, making the trip in 31 hours, which was speedy enough to suit the most hurried kind of a soul.

BIG BRASS FOUNDRY.

We notice by Cleveland papers that the Joel Hayden Brass Company, of which mention has before been made in the Gazette, has been fully organized at Lorain, Ohio, with a capital stock of $200,000. The directors of the new company are men of wealth, and some of the names are familiar to our readers, they being Amasa Stone, George W. Harris, Joel Hayden, G. W. Howe, J. V. Painter, Gilbert Hogan, and Davis M. Clark. The officers elected are: President, Amasa Stone; Vice President, and Manager, Joel Hayden; 2nd Vice President, H. D. McKinney; Treasurer, G. W. Howe; Secretary, W. H. Todd; Assistant Manager, D. M. Clark; Superintendent, S. C. Wentworth. Among the stockholders are Hon. John Hay, Assistant Secretary of State, Washington, and several prominent Cleveland capitalists.

H. D. McKinney, of this city, who has been chosen one of the officers, will have entire charge of the sales, and will spend much of his time travelling for the company, but will probably continue to make Janesville home.

The Lorain Times says: Mr. H. D. McKinney, the second Vice-President, will represent the company as its traveling head and will have entire charge of the sales throughout the United States. He has filled the same office in the Hayden company, of Haydensville, Mass., and resigns to join this company, believing that the west is to be the future manufacturing center of this country. His numerous friends will be pleased to learn of his change, and his extensive acquaintance among the consumers and purchasers of brass goods will prove him a valuable acquisition to the new company.

This company promises to be one of the most prominent manufacturing enterprises of the west. The productions will be all sorts of brass goods for water, gas, and steam, and making a specialty of all goods for use in engine building. Mr. Hayden was the senior partner of Hayden, Gere & Co., and late Vice-President of the Haydensville Manufacturing Company, of Haydensville, Mass. The other officers are men equally experienced and practical.

The factory will employ several hundred men, and will cause the little town of Lorain to boom. In connection with the discussions arising here as to how Janesville can get more manufactures, it is a natural question how the little town of Lorain managed to secure such a great enterprise. It is much smaller than Janesville, and has not so many advantages, but it succeeded in getting this great establishment located there. One of the main reasons is that the citizens gave the company six acres of land, and not only that but upon this land built all the needed workshops, at an expense of about $50,000. This seems a big sum for a little town to raise, but property owners considered that the natural increase in the value of their property, would more than pay them. The man who subscribed most liberally to this amount, has already been offered for some land owned by him, a sufficient advance to pay him back twice over.

The experience of other towns, in securing manufacturing enterprises is worthy of consideration, and they all point to the one conclusion, that a town to get helpful factories, must be enterprising in spirit, and liberal in offering encouragement. Such helps don't come to a town. They must be brought to it by activity and liberality, but when they are fairly established it amply repays for all labor and money expended in securing them.
